Record Catches - Fish and New Members, Some Changes, and SFF Outreach

Welcome to summer! This past month has been very busy with multiple events. After a very cold winter and brief spring, summer is here. The fish are moving in but probably a month behind the usual schedule. Many members began this month with record catches at our trip to the Everglades.

Every year SFF has an annual trip to the Everglades, usually late April and this year was no exception. The initial reports of significant fish kills of Peacock bass, cichlids and Oscars did not deter our group. We had a great turn out and were joined by several members of the Tampa Club. Don Manning did a great job with accommodations and finding a place for group dinners on Friday and Saturday nights. Paul Sequira had a great article on fishing the Everglades in last month's newsletter. Make sure you read it if you are planning a trip to the Everglades. Although my record of 14 catches was satisfying, many members recorded catches of over one hundred. That's a catch rate of a fish every 3 minutes in a 5 hour stretch. Wow!!!!!!!!!!!!!! If you have never made one of these trips put it in your to do bucket for next year.

We had a great beginning this year with many new members. Membership and member participation is a priority for our club. Get involved and volunteer for a committee. One of our goals is to increase our membership and encourage women and youths to join. Bring a friend or neighbor to a club meeting. In addition to promoting our goal of supporting fly fishing, we also benefit by our association with the Federation of Fly Fishers. As a Charter Club, we receive a Temple Forks Outfitters Lefty Kreh Professional Series rod for every 12 new members. This past month SFF received a 5 wt TFO rod from FFF.

As a Charter member of FFF we also have liability insurance for all members. This is a great advantage but only applies to our members. We encourage prospective members to attend an outing however we must obtain a signed liability waiver since they are not covered by our policy. If you bring a guest to an outing, please have them sign a waiver. These can be obtained from Alan Sewell or any of the officers.

John Rodgers has relinquished his position as Raffle Committee Chair and Librarian. We wish to thank John for all his efforts for the raffles at the membership meetings, the library and getting information to new SFF members. We all appreciate the goodies he had at the raffles. John, thanks for a great job.

Tom Hummel has agreed to be the Raffle Committee Chair and Librarian. We greatly appreciate Tom's commitment. During meetings, Tom is the "rafflemeister" who sees that the items are packaged, displayed, and raffled off. Members purchasing raffle tickets are sure to win some flies, toys, and materials. Tom also runs the "Fly Box Program" in which members donate flies in return for tickets. Half of the flies go to the winner that SFF was present and very busy teaching youngsters to cast and tie flies at Marine Quest on April 17. It was a great combination of enthusiastic club members and youths. What an opportunity for the youngsters to get introduced to fly fishing and what a satisfying feeling for our members to contribute to the future of fly fishing. Bill AuCoin did a great job organizing the event and special thanks to John Craig, Ken Doty, Ron Kelley, Robert Hinzpeter, Ken Hofmeister, Ron Kelley, Woody Miller, Joe Piemonte, Steve Putbrese, and yours truly.

On the horizon is a fly tying workshop. The details of this workshop are described on pages 3 & 4. Please sign up for this workshop since class size is limited but we plan to repeat the workshop.Tom

OUTINGS -REVIEWS & PREVIEWS by Alan Sewell

May Outing – May 22, 2010 Hillsborough River

April Outing: On April '17th, our club had it's monthly outing at Lake Manatee, at the lake Manatee State Park. Fishing was good to average. The weather was not a problem as the winds had laid down for the day. Bass and bream were caught with the largest bass measuring 17 inches. This bass was hooked by MARK HAYS. The largest sunfish was a 9 inch bream caught by TED RICH. (Ted won by a ½ inch over Annie Hays) Even though there was a small group of club members present, we all had a good time with a lot of laughs. The lunch was the left over PIG and it was better than at the Pig Roast.

Everglades Adventure: The tropical fish that we all go to catch in the Everglades were killed by the CCCOOLDD weather this past winter. Some of our members checked out the canals early in the year and there were no Oscars or Cichlids to be caught. Sixteen of our members and two from the Tampa Club went to fish the canals. We have seen in the years past this outing can be the GOOD, BAD, OR UGLY. This year there was ONLY bass and bream to be caught. The fishing turned out to be really good or exceptional. Some of the members had the best days of fresh water fishing ever. We ate at some good restaurants and there was NO lying or truth stretching when we were together. After dinner the Rum flowed. All members should fish this outing the next time it is planned.

May Outing: The club will be floating down the Hillsboro River on May 22, 2010 from Morris Bridge Park to the takeout at Trout Creek Park where lunch will be served at 12:00pm. Members can fish or just look at the natural scenery as you float down the river. If you fish, you should use a 7 foot, or less, rod to clear the overhanging trees. A 2 to 4 weight rod is best. Kayaks or canoes are the best for this river. The water is full and it will be a great time to explore and fish. It takes about 2½ hours to float this section of the river. If you need a vessel, ask at the meeting and we will find you a kayak or canoe. Flies are the same ones listed in last month's newsletter, a top water pattern is a must on the upper part of the float.

SFF Information and Activities

May Program

Rachel Arndt, Communications Coordinator for Tampa Bay Watch, a nonprofit stewardship organization dedicated exclusively to the protection and restoration of the marine and wetland environments of the Tampa Bay Estuary through scientific and educational programs will discuss TBW activities and plans/response to an oil spill in this area.

Designated Fly Tyer

Russ Hampton of Clermont, FL will demonstrate his White Gurgler and how to tie an effective weed guard that will allow you to cast back into the lily pads without hanging up to draw out those bragging sized bass. Some of you may remember the excellent program on fishing the Everglades Russ did for us a few years ago. Russ was a featured tyer at the first FFF Expo in Lakeland and his superb flies were a popular raffle item at the Hog Roast.

Casting Tips By Capt. Pat Damico MCI

Casting Tip #5: The casting arc, the V-shaped angle between the rod butt in the start position and the stop position of a cast, must vary with the length of line past the rod tip. This is our next Essential. The more line you extend past the rod tip, the more weight available to bend, or load the rod. In order to maintain a Straight Line Path of the Rod Tip, a short line requires a short stroke and a long line a long stroke. It is easy to demonstrate this by starting false casting, casting without allowing the line or fly to touch the ground, with a few feet of line outside the rod tip. Pinch the line under your grip on the rod's cork. As you cast, extend a few more feet of line and maintain a straight line path with the rod tip, while you increase the size of the casting arc. You should be able to maintain a nice tight loop during this exercise.

SFF Fly Tying Workshop by Tom Gadacz & Paul Sequira

After considering several alternatives, the SFF Board will initiate a fly tying workshop for SFF members as an additional activity and not during the membership meeting. The workshop will teach basic fly tying skills to members who have had no, or very little previous fly tying experience and lay the foundation to begin a hobby that will give you years of pleasure. Class size will be limited to a maximum of eight (8) students so that the instructor may give personal attention to students as needed. The workshops will be conducted by some of our clubs best tiers/teachers. Patient step-by-step techniques will have you tying a pattern that will catch fish. This is another way to educate and help make us all better fly fisherman. We all remember the fish we first caught with one of our own creations.... a priceless moment!

The workshops will be directed by Mark Craig with support from our best fly tying members. Beginning on Wednesday, July 7th an introductory session will consist of basic concepts with fly tying equipment and instruments, thread, hooks, and fly tying materials. Subsequent classes will teach specific salt water and fresh water patterns. These workshops will continue for 3 additional weekly sessions at the same time and place. We plan to repeat the workshops 2 to 3 times a year. So, mark your calendar for

Fly Tying Workshop List Of Tools and Materials:

The following is a list of the tools and fly tying materials that will be required for this workshop. In regard to tools, it is wise to purchase the best quality tools you can afford. Bargain basement tools are of poor quality, will never perform well and generally make your tying experience difficult rather than the enjoyable and pleasant pastime it can and should be. Good quality tools, although more expensive will last a lifetime. I have and regularly use tools that I purchased over 40 years ago. I would suggest purchasing these items individually from a reputable fly shop (such as the shops that advertise in our newsletter) rather than a fly tying kit. Most of those kits contain many items that are poor quality and materials that you may never use.

For your convenience, a ballpark estimate of costs for each of the items listed below is included. These estimates were taken from the catalog of a well-known fly tying tools and materials dealer. The fly tying vise will be your largest expense and can run anywhere from approximately $30 (which will suffice if your goal is to be a casual tyer) to several hundred dollars depending upon quality and features. A good quality vise that will serve you well for many years is going to cost in the range of $150 to $200. When choosing a vise, be sure that the jaws are capable of holding salt water style hooks in excess of size 2. The jaws and locking device are usually the first parts to fail on inexpensive vises. If you are unsure of how serious you are about fly tying and have a fly tying friend who might loan you some tools, that might be a way to go to test the waters, so to speak.

A sign-up sheet for interested members (who match the experience levels described above) will be passed around at the May 20th meeting.

Capt. Russ Shirley: Fifteen Secrets to Tarpon on a Fly by Bill AuCoin

Capt. Russ Shirley has guided fly fishers for giant tarpon for 17 years, poling them across hundreds of miles of salty excitement and heartbreak from Bayport/Weeki-Wachee to Boca Grande and all points between. These days, during tarpon season, Captain Russ' focus is guiding tarpon-on-a-fly anglers on Tampa Bay.

He is their spotter, their instructor, their partner. When his angler confuses 3 o'clock and 9 o'clock on the clock face and casts to the wrong side of the boat, it's okay. Sorry you didn't get a tarpon today.

Downers and uppers like that are all in a day's work for Captain Russ. And he shared a few with Suncoast Fly Fishers at the April meeting. "Top 15 Secrets to Tarpon on Fly" was the title of his presentation but this well-regarded guide shared at least 45, and here are just a few.

Use common sense. Wait for fish. Don't push them.

Make sure your fly's hook is sharp enough to bite into your fingernail.

Four eyes are better than two. Help the guide spot fish. If you've got a second person on-board, train them to spot too, especially since they may be sitting down and might see tarpon rolling when you can't. Six eyes are better than four. Plus, that person can be your line tender, water boy, cheerleader, and official photographer/videographer.

Practice 350-degree casting. Sometimes you have to drop your fly into the water on your back-cast. (He didn't say this, but one must assume that the man on the poling platform owns the other 10 degrees). In fact, Russ said over 60 percent of the tarpon he hooks are on the back-cast.

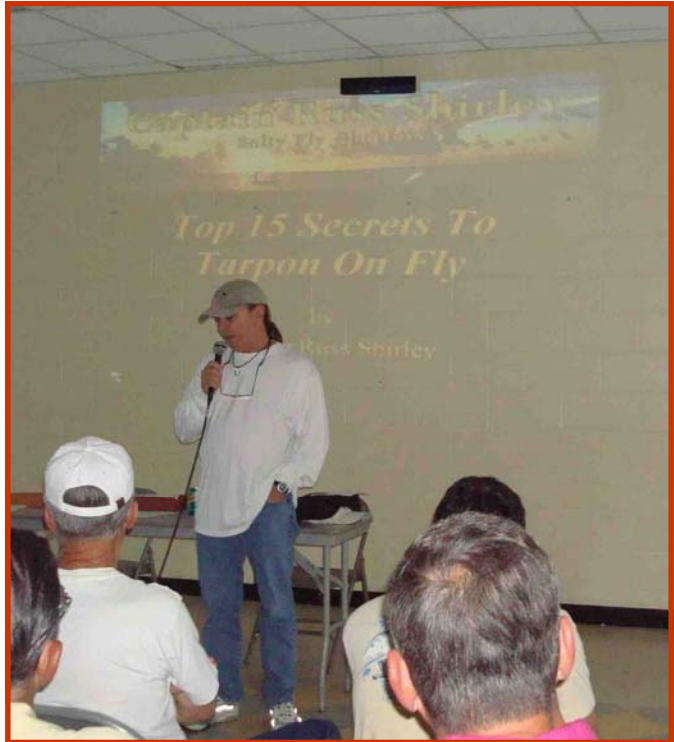

Practice side arm hook casting, left and right, so that you can make the fly swim in the same direction as tarpon swimming away from you.

Take responsibility for your fly line. If your line gets entangled in the prop of the trolling motor, expect a frown from the guide and the possibility that your day may be jeopardized. The loss of a burnt motor may make the fishing harder and slower. Either way YOU lose, right?

Never hook the guide. Remember this tip, especially: the guide still gets paid, even if you're taking a trip to the hospital.

Feed the fish. Not literally, of course. Rather, make sure the tarpon sees the fly and, more importantly can eat it easily. Also, make sure you see the fly, too. Never lose sight of it. Slow it down; make it dance.

Captain Russ said, "Tickle the tarpon's nose with your fly's feathers." He wasn't kidding. Sometimes the tarpon might follow your fly all the way to the boat. Whatever you do make sure the fly feathers undulate. If the fly is moving too fast, a tarpon may not care or be interested. Some tarpon are sniffers. Some are nippers. The more time you spend fishing them, the more you realize they're all different. And, when you think you've got them figured out, they'll change the game on you.

If you make 2-3 presentations and the tarpon doesn't eat, change flies. Purple is usually the right color. Why? Nobody knows. Russ thinks aliens may know.

Another thing Russ has discovered, via cell-phone cooperation with other guides on the water, is that tarpon feeding seem to turn on at the same time all up and down the gulf coast. Why? Ask the aliens. Tarpon roll at the same time, too, over very large areas.

Fish smarter, not harder. Know when to apply pressure and when not. When the tarpon tires, DO NOT let him get a breath of air. This is the time for "down and dirty" pressure.

Use your body to fight the tarpon. Pump the rod with your dominant hand to gain 2-3 feet on the tarpon then quickly crank the reel with the same hand to put those 2-3 feet of line back on the reel. Forget palming, you'll lose.

If the boat rocks when you cast you're doing something wrong. That's pretty much for all saltwater sight fishing, especially in shallow or still waters.

Calm down. Manage emotions. Tell yourself that tarpon are just oversized sardines.

Be safe. Have fun. Catch fish. Shoot lots of pictures and video. You never know when it may be your last tarpon trip, right? Pretty much goes for all trips, Russ says.

Two big takeaways from this captain's presentation related to casting and attitude.

Regarding casting, the lesson is SAD -- Speed. Accuracy. Distance. Keep a tight loop. Know how to double haul. The double haul is a requirement when casting large rods used for tarpon.

Regarding attitude, Russ told Suncoast Fly Fishers to learn to be a Level Four or a Level Five fisherman.

A Level Four is somebody who casts well and knows this is a team sport. A Level Five angler blames himself if something or anything goes wrong.

Those other levels?

Level Ones know nothing. Level Twos blame others. Level Threes know some things, but they think they know it all and blame everything and everybody else. You know what? They don't even know what they don't know.

"We're not born with these skills, but some learn faster than others," said Russ. "Patience is a virtue as well as a skill, one of the hardest to learn. Lord knows, it took me a long, long time."

FLY TYERS

The 6:30 fly tying demonstration session prior to the meeting is a very popular feature. Members are always interested in new flies, different methods of tying old flies or just some well known fly that might not have been demonstrated in a while. Old tried and true patterns are new to new fly fishers and are very interesting to them. We need members who are willing to share their fly tying skills with their fellow members. If you would like to volunteer as a featured fly tyer, please see Myron Hansen at the meeting or call him at 727-393-5075.

Tying Bench - The Tarpon Toad by Enver Hysni

Editor's note: The Tarpon Toad was developed by Gary Merriman of Atlanta, GA. The Toad is a lightweight, slow sinking fly designed for sight casting, and when it was introduced in the early 1990s in the Florida Keys, it immediately improved the hook-up rates for anglers pursuing skittish fish. This fly may also be tied with a rabbit strip tail.

Materials:

Hook: Owner Aki (or similar) size 2/0

Thread: Flat waxed nylon 3/0

Tail: Marabou

Body: Rug yarn or synthetic material

Eyes: Optional

Tying Instructions:

Pic 1 - use your favorite hook. This is an Owner Aki hook in 2/0 and base wrap with thread of predominant color

Pic 2- select a tuft of marabou and spin around base of hook, straight off the shank.

Pic 3 optional attach dumbbell weighted eyes with figure eight wraps. You can also tie with unweighted / plastic eyes, or no eyes.

Pic 4-5 begin tying in rug yarn or synthetic material from base towards eye of hook. Figure eight wraps like the eyes, or "v" style, whichever you're comfortable with. When done, brush fibers out from shank of hook.

Pic 6-7 trim to shape. Eyeball method, or thumbnail, or coin to guide cuts. Top and side profiles
